

Title: Methods of Teaching Inflection in Czech
Author: Varvara Ponomareva, Charles University

Abstract:

In my poster, I deal with teaching of Czech for foreigners at levels A1-A2 according to CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: Learning, Teaching, Assessment), and offer an alternative concept of a comprehensive presentation and systematic teaching of conjugation and declination of selected word classes (verbs, nouns and adjectives). My aim is to develop a way of displaying an inflection, which by its comprehensiveness would offer the students a holistic understanding of the grammatical system of the Czech language, and yet would not be a cognitive obstacle to language acquisition.
