

Title: Technology and LCTLs: Applications for Differentiation

Author: Susan C. Kresin, University of California, Los Angeles

LCTL language classes are well known for the challenges involved in adapting instruction to a wide variety of student abilities and interests. In this presentation I will discuss various ways to use technology to differentiate LCTL instruction, focusing on methods used in both regular and intense Czech languages classes at UCLA.

Kresin@humnet.ucla.edu