

Title: Heritage Learners and Survival Czech Class Content Online
Author: Marshall Pierce, University of Nebraska, Lincoln

The role of language in preserving heritage in an immigrant community is something that many believe is essential. Many members of the Nebraska Czech community have long argued that a language course serving the heritage learners and speakers is needed. This poster presentation will cover the results of a questionnaire sent to the 9 chapters of the Nebraska Czechs Incorporated, and the ramifications for course design and content.
